So that I can find whether the string contains "". Below is a very simple example #!/usr/bin/perl use warnings; use strict; my $pattern = qr{ my $string = ""; if ($string =~ ~/pattern/) { print "found "; } else { print "Not found "; } The output is expected Not found But in reality, it is not found. I know the problem is in the pattern, and it is not really able to find But I really need to search in a very long string, and I don't want to put it into a separate subpattern. #!/usr/bin/perl use warnings; use strict; my $pattern = qr{ my $string = " "; if ($string =~ ~/pattern/) { print "Found "; } else { print "Not found "; } This
