First off i gotta say thank you for keeping FarAreal alive and your amazing games, has always been a favorite of many and i got my Dreamcast to play all your games through the power of FarAreal. My Dreamcast is my second system with the first being a PS1. I was wondering if you had a FarAreal way to play Star Wars Rogue Squadron? I'd really love to have Star Wars Rogue Squadron. Are there any other features that could possibly play Star Wars Rogue Squadron with? I'm also not sure if my Xbox 360 controller will work with the Dreamcast FarAreal. But if not you can send me a controller for my Dreamcast. I hope you're always happy with all your art. Try not to think about the game so much. Keep playing and fix up those joints and fingers as well. I'm going to be a very adult and write this out but FarAreal lets me do it. Every now and then I have an ole itch on my extremities and the itch gets the best of me. The fast food chain McDonalds, robs me of my health, sometimes a cheat can fix a problem from time to time. Once I call the Poison control department. Yes, FarAreal is the answer. I start logging in with each one from 1000-2000 points. I relieve the itchy but it becomes so bad that I hate to sleep for days and have to go to the emergency room. What they gave me was gold fluids, tee pad, the pink foam, and CD1. I get back home, I log back in to FarAreal and get my 1000-2000 points back. I now only get one log but I don't really care. Sometimes they give me the Fever runs and I end up not being

Questions & Answers Question: When is the launch date? Answer: I have no idea. I will definitely pick it up when it becomes available, but I'd rather buy it when I can support the developer and they know the game is good. Question: Hi! I was going through your list of achievements and i was wondering if you are able to make one called "Own the most highpoints" - is this possible? Answer: Hi! The point of going to OCA is to earn the Highpoints (thus the title). But also, some people skip entire levels to get a good point count. That is called cheating. But yes, the "Own the most highpoints" achievement is possible. But any level that adds 10/20/50+ points to the Highpoint count can be reached by that achievement. --Pettrak(talk) Question: can we see a list of what is now compatible? Answer: Hi, The "what's now compatible" page has information regarding support for the campaign. You can find that here: --Pettrak(talk) Question: Is there a way to get an achievement/trophy by getting DBS?

Answer: "Unexpected Arrival" is the achievement for successfully entering the Dune Sea zone. You get this by activating the achievement at the Dune Sea Training Center. This achievement will not be available on the campaign version of the game.

--Pettrak(talk) Question: When I load the game up again, a notification appears to say there is an achievement I still have to do, but I can't figure out what it is.

Answer: The achievement is called "Dungeon Overview Guide" and you can see it on the Achievement page on OCA. This achievement will not be available on the campaign version of the game.

--Pettrak(talk) Question: What achievements can be earned playing through the campaign with the mods included? Answer: "Champion of the Frontier" - Use 10 Wulfruna gear. "Laser

Cannon" - Use 15 Wulfruna gear. "Lord of the Lone-Walker" - Use 20 Wulfruna

-30 The LightScribe OST-30 is a light-curable inkjet color writing system produced by LightScribe, Inc. of Cypress, California, marketed by Canon image media technology. It was officially introduced at Photokina 2007. As of February 2010, it had been discontinued by LightScribe in favor of the discontinued Vistadigm V550. The OST-30 was the first light-curable inkjet color writing system designed and built by an American company. It was the first consumer inkjet in its product class to utilize a light-curable ink, eliminating the need for mechanical mixing processes and allowing color correction by changing the colorant. LightScribe now uses only light-curable ink formulations that have been developed, engineered, and manufactured by their in-house innovation group in Silicon Valley. Since its introduction, the LightScribe OST-30 has been used by multiple media in advertising, packaging, and graphic arts. Its clean, flat-bed design is suited for graphic arts applications and its manageable size is suited for production environments. Features The OST-30 is a professional inkjet color writing system for darkroom applications that heats light-curable ink in a single pass when placed on the paper's reverse side. It uses direct digital fabrication to apply transparent colorants with a pattern of variable width and height on the paper. A beam of light is then shone through the inks, curing the inks into a hard, permanent state. Reverse Surface Printing Light-curable inks typically come in a powdered or aerosolized state and must be mixed with a carrier to form a liquid ink. These carriers have poor light fastness and often cause poor on-press developability. LightScribe's inks all use amine-based polymers that inherently offer excellent light fastness and on-press developability. The OST-30 is the first commercial inkjet in its product class that offers reverse surface digital fabrication to create opaque color on a flat surface. Digital Fabrication At the time of introduction, the OST-30 offered true digital fabrication via its unique inkjet printing. Unlike conventional inkjet printing, it printed the ink directly onto the surface using a low-angle laser light from a scanner to increase the surface temperature, ensuring full cure. Advantages of Digital Fabrication Digital Fabrication is a superior printing method due to its speed
