You're seeing the X icon. The archive you have there is the crack / patch for Counter-Strike 1.6, which you can apply to your current version of the game. This will simply let you start playing the game. Q: Converting HTML to image using PHP I am creating a news portal, and basically on each page I have a small box where I list news stories like so: [](news story) My problem is, I want to convert this box to an image, so I don't have to make the exact same HTML element or image for each story. I also want to be able to convert the text if there are special characters etc, etc. Any idea's on a solution to this? A: Try this little snippet: ',$str); ?> This will turn your [](news story) in an image like this: Memory is an essential component of a computer system. Most conventional computer systems have a relatively small memory capacity compared to the overall processing power and computer system. For example, a typical computer system might have a 16 megabyte (16,000,000 bytes) dynamic random access memory (DRAM) (although other memory technologies may be used) for storing information, but might be able to perform computer systems have relatively slow and unreliable memory. For example, DRAMs are volatile memories, meaning that data stored in DRAM is erased when the power is turned off. Furthermore, there are relatively few bits of information that can be stored in any memory device, so it is desirable to make DRAMs as small as possible. Another problem with conventional memory systems is that the relative costs of DR
