Secure, virus and spyware free.USA Today The Miami Dolphins were the headliners of Thursday's rumor mill thanks to an Instagram post from running back Jay Ajayi. On Tuesday, Ajayi posted a photo that included the caption, "will be joining the team soon #dolphins." At the time of this post, Ajayi has only made two appearances in the regular season, totaling 24 yards on four carries. On Wednesday, Ajayi spoke with reporters and explained that he shared the photo because he is preparing for the future. "I'm excited about the future," Ajayi said. "A lot of things going on. There's a lot of stuff that's going on. I'm excited about the future and excited about what it means for the team." As Ajayi alluded, that future appears to be in South Beach. Ajayi said he wants to be in Miami, and team officials seem to be ready to give him a chance. But the question remains whether or not the Dolphins, who already have Leonard Fournette, Le'Veon Bell, Todd Gurley and Ezekiel Elliott under contract, will sign Ajayi. Ajayi has yet to accept a contract from any team in the NFL. If he can't find a deal in the summer, then he will sign as a free agent. There are reports that Ajayi could sign with the Dolphins as a free agent. It's a complicated situation, but the Dolphins may be good enough to find a way to make Ajayi a regular part of their offense in 2018.I recently became a parent and switched to a fully vegetarian diet. What does this mean? Do I eat meat? Do I eat fish? For example, in Japan I always thought fish was a thing you ate for the last day of Lent, then you could eat it again during fast month. So, where do I begin? I know that tofu is a type of meat, but I'm vegetarian. Do I eat everything, or only some? And how do I cook? In case it's not apparent, I haven't cooked in quite some time. I'm looking for something simple, like a weekday meal that takes as little time as possible and tastes great. I don't want to spend hours in the kitchen, I just
