But in the US, things are much more serious. I very often hear from people, and even from doctors, that if a person has not worked in the USA for 10 years, then nothing can help him ... If he did not work in the USA, then his medical history is of no interest to anyone. All studies and analyzes will be for many years, and they will have no value in understanding what is happening to you.

Ōnuma Park is a park located in Enoshima, Yatsushiro, Kumamoto Prefecture, Japan. The name was derived from the local character, who is responsible for the formation of a hill named Mount Ōnuma. Background In ancient times, Ohama Ota-no-kami, the lord of Yatsushiro, set the area as an outpost. In the mid-Sengoku period, the land belonged to Ōtomo Yoritomo, the first shōgun. The area was ruled by the Toda clan from 1617 to 1869. At the end of Edo period, the area was given to Ōnuma Hikikane-no-kami. Between 1920 and 1930, Kukiya Kiyoshi, an educationalist, had built a park near the area. Development In 2004, the city of Yatsushiro decided to transform the area into a park, and the construction began on November 8, 2012. However, because of the destruction of volcanic activity, the construction was suspended. The official opening ceremony was held on April 27, 2015. Features The area provides scenery that is different from ordinary parks, because of the volcanic activity that formed the area. There is also a large pond.
