MaterialBaker is a CG animation tool for making believable, paintable, physically based, cloth, fur, hair, and leather materials for your digital film and TV projects. Realistic hair, fur, and leather materials are an important component for making your project look better, so we designed MaterialBaker to be as flexible as possible for allowing you to create these types of materials as well as creating interactive hair-dyed materials. It is based on Substance Painter and nHair, so it was a natural extension to include Ornatrix. Specializing in hair-dying artistry, Technicolor expert hairstylists Jim Post and Gary Moore explore how they use Ornatrix to recreate rich, natural-looking highlights. Learn how they incorporate Ornatrix into their workflows and demonstrate techniques to achieve nuanced, subtle colour changes within the hair of a single strand. In this editorial, we feature the first Ornatrix Applications tutorial. In the preview, we cover Aperture's newest Hair and Haze node-based tool. We then cover a comparison between the currently available free and subscription-based options for Ornatrix: SubstanceD's Substance Designer, Substance Painter, FumeFX's Fumetto, and Ornatrix's own Ornatrix Essentials Edition software. We finish the preview with a look at a triple hair creation workflow that leverages the Hair and Haze tool.

The adult ornate bella moth is a rather small moth (wingspan 3.04.5 cm). The more common bella form has the front wings yellow with white bands each containing a row of black dots, and the hindwings bright pink with an irregular marginal black band (Figures 5 and 6). The paler form originally designated ornatrix is restricted to southern Florida and southern Texas. Naturalized Euphorbia humifusa and Euphorbia cyparissias are common in the southern part of the United States and in Asia (Armstrong 2005). In Florida, the closest relative is Euphorbia esula Steud. (Cramer) (Cramer 1996). This plant has a weak odor, leaves no taste after maturation, and it is drought resistant (McManus & Ashman 1995). Recently, the hydrangea moth, Utetheisa ornatrix is one of the most important insect pests in the world (Karr 2005). The plant cultivars, Euphorbia polyandra Boiss., Euphorbia polychroma Bartr., and Euphorbia cyparissias Steud., which are in the same subgenus as Euphorbia humifusa, occur as weed species in the southern United States.
