Ruff & Tuff or Ruger & Gutty? I am looking to buy a double barrel or full size 1911 for my Ruger GP100. I have heard the RUFTS and Ruger & GUTY is the best of both worlds. Does anyone know the differences between them? I know that the Ruger & GUTY is the full size 1911, but is it as accurate as the RUFTS? You can get the Gutty with a 4 inch barrel as well as the Ruf and RufTS. the difference between the two is that the RufTS is flatter shooting. It's a better all around weapon than the Gutty as well. I was using a Gutty as my CCW when I was in the military. It was issued to every SAW operator. I had a full auto Gutty in the armory (in addition to a K-Car) and I think they have it listed in the PMA. You get a T-6 slides, grips, mags, a hang hole on the stock, and a dremel kit and you are set.
