I used File Geodatabase to create a database file for my geological map. But it seems that there is no option to save it as DBF file. So is it possible to export the GDB to DBF format? A: No, you cannot save your File Geodatabase as DBF. However, once you have done this you can open it in something like QGIS and save that as a shapefile. In QGIS you'll have to manually re-arrange the fields as a DBF would have them be arranged.
